

May 10, 2013

Fresno Bowling Alley Being Demolished to Make Way for New Walmart

A once popular Fresno bowling alley will be no more.

Cedar Lanes, located at Cedar and Shields in central Fresno, will be demolished this month to make way for a new Walmart Neighborhood Market.

The new store is expected to open early 2015 and employ about 65 associates, helping return economic vitality to the Cedar Lanes shopping center.

“It’s great to have a grocery store so close to our neighborhood where we can shop locally for products like fresh fruits and vegetables,” said resident Katie Dyer. “And the market will greatly improve the appearance of the Cedar Lanes shopping center.”

The Cedar Ave. Walmart Neighborhood Market will include energy-efficient technology and environmentally-friendly features to reduce energy demands, conserve water, and minimize waste.

<http://www.ksee24.com/news/local/Fresno-Bowling-Alley-Being-Demolished-to-Make-Way-for-New-Walmart-206985911.html>